INDEPENDENT DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS

Personal Site: Leveraging ReactJS, HTML, CSS, and incorporating 3D models, I meticulously crafted my personal website. This dynamic space not only exhibits my full-stack portfolio with finesse but also offers a vibrant and immersive glimpse into my identity as a developer, infusing flair into my digital presence.

Intranet Client Portal | Atomic Synergistics: This MVC intranet application, built on .NET 6.0 with a Model-View-Controller architecture, features role-based access control, a well-structured data schema, and intuitive interfaces for efficient records management. Leveraging technologies such as ChartJS and Datatables, it excels in data visualization and user experience enhancement, showcasing advanced full-stack development skills.

Web API | To-Do List: Demonstrating proficiency in full-stack development, I created a robust Web API integrated with a To-Do list using ReactJS. This project showcases my ability to manage APIs and databases, with the added functionality of Swagger for enhanced API documentation. The result is a fully functional web application that highlights my expertise in creating and maintaining APIs while ensuring a smooth user experience.
